GALLERY M OF CHERRY CREEK NORTH CURATES SELLING EXHIBITION FEATURING "MOTHER" OF MODERN PHOTOJOURNALISM MARGARET BOURKE-WHITE

"Fortunes of Industry" – Featuring Images by Renowned Photojournalist to Open Friday, July 30 with special events in August.

DENVER, Colorado – July 25, 2010 – GALLERY M of Cherry Creek North announced today the opening of a new selling exhibition of iconic vintage, later, and modern prints by Margaret Bourke-White.

GALLERY M, in association with the LIFE Magazine, presents a two month long photography exhibition online and by appointment featuring the woman who is credited for being the first! Margaret Bourke-White made it possible for the legions of female photographers and ultimately journalists to obtain new opportunities in industry as she pursued her career during the 1920s through the late 1960s.

Bourke-White was the first staff photographer hired at FORTUNE and was also one of the first four photographers hired in 1935 for "Project X" (which later became LIFE Magazine). Rare images shot by Bourke-White during this time period will be made available for this exhibition.

The August events begin at 6PM to 8PM on Thursday, August 12, 2010 and again on Friday, August 20, 2010.

Gallery founder and managing director, Myrna Hayutin, vied for the show because "Bourke-White was not afraid to "go high as a pioneer and as a woman." She documented the highs and lows of the human condition through industry in bad and good times.

The focal point of "The Fortunes of Industry" collection provides a chance for seasoned as well as first-time collectors to add significant images to a collection. Included are iconic vintage and modern black and white gelatin silver prints from the original negatives.
